Proposal No. 1: Appropriation of Surplus

1. Matters related to the year-end dividend

The Company's management policies recognize the increase in corporate value resulting from proactive business investment, and the importance of returning profits directly to shareholders through dividend payments.

Based on the new midterm management plan "MOL ADVANCE" announced in 2007, the Company continues to proactively implement investments, especially in vessels. The Company uses internal reserve funds to increase corporate value per share, while enhancing corporate strength.

In consideration of the above, the Company will continue to increase the dividend payout ratio in conjunction with results of operations as part of its mid- and long-term management goals, while having set the criterion of 20% of consolidated dividend payout ratio for the coming years.

In line with these policies, the Company proposes to pay a dividend of ¥17 per share, an increase of ¥6 from the previous year.

As a result, the annual dividend payment per share is \(\xi\)31, including the interim dividend of \(\xi\)14 per share paid in November 29, 2007.

BUSINESS REPORT
(From April 1, 2007 to March 31, 2008)

1. Matters concerning the Present State of the Corporate Group

(1) Business Progress and Results

1) General Business Climate

As seen in an overview of the global economy, in the U.S. economy during the fiscal year ended March 31, 2008, the subprime loan issue created turmoil in the financial markets, and personal consumption and employment declined in step with the deteriorating housing markets. The overall U.S. economic slowdown deepened. On the other hand, Europe showed continuous steady growth supported by favorable investment. The Chinese economy showed continual growth of over 10% annually backed by favorable trends in investment and personal consumption. Japan also maintained slow growth thanks to rising exports offsetting sluggish domestic demand.

In the foreign exchange market, the yen was weak early in the year, but depreciation of the dollar progressed rapidly around December 2007 due to turmoil in the U.S. economy after the summer. As a result, the average exchange rate during FY2007 for the yen was at ¥115.55/U.S.$, slightly higher than the previous fiscal year. Bunker prices continued to increase as the price of crude oil exceeded $100 per barrel (WTI) spurred by increased demand in developing countries and speculative funds flowing into the futures market. As a result, the average bunker price during FY2007 was U.S.$409/MT (up U.S.$88/MT from the previous fiscal year). Higher bunker prices combined with an appreciating yen had a dampening effect on our company's profits.

In the seaborne market, the spot freight rates of dry bulkers showed an almost uninterrupted rise after the summer, and marked a record high in November. It remained high throughout the fiscal year, in spite of a temporary adjustment. As for tankers, while there was a surplus of vessels such as Very Large Crude oil Carriers (VLCCs) and LPG carriers, the market for petrochemical product carriers (MR type) remained steady to some extent. The loaded cargo volume in the containership business increased greatly from the previous fiscal year, and freight rates on European routes recovered, but profits increased only slightly from the previous fiscal year, due to increases in various costs including inland railroad rates, along with higher fuel prices.

Consequently, consolidated revenue for FY2007 increased 24.1% from the previous fiscal year, totaling ¥1,945.6 billion; operating income increased 73.3% to ¥291.2 billion; ordinary income increased 65.6% to ¥302.2 billion, and net income grew 57.4% to ¥190.3 billion. Revenue and all incomes set new records.

2) Business Overview by Segment Bulkships Business

<Dry Bulkers>

Worldwide seaborne trade of iron ore in 2007 was nearly 800 million tons, a 9% increase from the previous year 2006. In particular, China showed a strong increase of 17% to 383 million tons. In addition to this increase, spot rates for dry bulkers including Cape size bulkers rose rapidly after the summer, thanks to increasing purchases from more remote loading ports, such as Brazil, etc., because of diversified ore supply sources, which resulted in longer voyage distances than ever before. Port congestion in Australia was another factor for such rise in rates. MOL sequentially put in service 24 newly built vessels including Brasil Maru to ensure stable earnings through long-term contracts for iron ore carriers, coal carriers, wood chip carriers, and so on, and expanded its aggressive business activities utilizing its free tonnage, and reaped the benefits of a favorable market. Heavy lift vessels also showed strong performance thanks to active plant trades to the Middle East. As a result, both revenue and income for FY2007 increased significantly from the previous fiscal year, reaching new highs.

<Tankers/LNG carriers>

The petrochemical products business was supported by a robust market almost throughout FY2007. On the other hand, while the VLCC market showed a temporary steep rise at the end of 2007, overall it remained at low levels throughout the fiscal year, due to stagnant trade because of high crude oil prices and sluggish U.S. energy demand. The market for LPG carriers also remained at a low level. While the tanker segment secured stable earnings as a whole with 11 newly built vessels and long-term contracts, and although revenues increased, income declined from the previous fiscal year as the result of the impact of rising seafarer wages to secure higher quality crew and dry-dock fees.

In the LNG carrier segment, two (2) new building vessels were put in service during FY2007, further expanding the fleet. The Company won a contract for one (1) vessel to participate in new project for a Japanese customer. Although existing vessels performed well under long-term contracts during the fiscal year, income in this segment decreased from the previous fiscal year mainly due to the yen's appreciation against the dollar and a change of the vessel depreciation method.

<Car Carriers>

With favorable seaborne trade from Japan and the Far East, the Company launched new 12 vessels from FY2006 to 2007 to increase its transport capacity. In FY2007, units transported totaled 2.78 million, a 4% increase from FY2006. In addition, higher profits from the cross-trade business in the Atlantic contributed to our performance. However, higher bunker prices, ship management costs and various costs for managing the fleet shortage associated with higher-than-expected shipping volume depressed our earnings. As a result, income in this segment decreased.

Containerships Business

Seaborne trade on Asia-North America (eastbound) routes remained almost the same as the previous year, but other routes, such as Asia-Europe routes and South/North routes, showed steady growth. The Company put in service 11 newly built containerships during FY2007 to provide larger-scale ships on key routes such as Asia-Europe, and opened new services such as Asia-the Black Sea, Middle East-Africa, and Asia-Africa. Thanks to these efforts, loaded cargo volume increased greatly compared to FY2006. Furthermore, as a result of efforts to restore freight rates on the European route, and so on, revenue posted a strong increase of 21% from the previous fiscal year. However, income rose by only a small margin due to higher costs for inland railroad transport in North America, terminal handling, and canal tolls, in addition to the steep rise in bunker prices.

Business associated with containerships include container terminals that the Company operates (four (4) in Japan and two (2) in North America), and harbor and port operation. These businesses remained firm thanks to growth in the container trade.

Logistics Business

Income in the air cargo transport business FY2007 remained almost the same as the previous fiscal year due to a slowdown in trade to and from Japan. The Company has also worked to develop and reinforce its Ocean Consolidation Business (OCB) operations. The Company won a contract to serve as a buyer's consolidator in China and Hong Kong for a major U.S. retail chain, maintaining our solid growth in this business.

Ferry and Domestic Transport Business

In the ferry business, a bunker price surge of more than \(\frac{\text{$\geq}}{10,000/KL}\) (about 20%) compared to FY2006, depressed profits. But, the Company reinforced our management base by consolidating Group companies, took measures for rationalization such as withdrawal from an unprofitable route, and assessed bunker surcharges. As a result of these endeavors, the Company secured more profits than the previous fiscal year. Also in the domestic transport business, seaborne trade showed favorable growth, and profits increased over FY2006.

Associated Businesses

The real estate business showed steady performance and maintained profits at the same level as the previous fiscal year. In cruise ship operations, the Company attracted more passengers but could not offset cost increases such as higher bunker prices, resulting in lower profits than FY2006. In the trading business, ship machinery sales were favorably on track. As a result, overall revenue and profit in the associated business segment during FY2007 showed increases compared to the previous fiscal year.

Others

Other businesses, which are mainly cost centers, include ship operations, ship management, ship chartering, financing, and shipbuilding. Overall profits for the year in this segment increased from FY2006.

(4) Issues to be Addressed

As stated in item No.1 of overall strategies in the three-year Midterm Management Plan, "MOL ADVANCE" started from FY2007, and the Company regards securing safe operation as its top priority. In an attempt to carry out various measures to enhance the safe operation system, a plan of investment amounting to ¥35 billion over three (3) years from FY2007 through FY2009 is generally advancing as scheduled.

Principal measures to enhance safe operation are as follows:

- Supporting system for safe operation on a round-the-clock basis through the Safety Operation Supporting Center (from February 2007)
- Restructuring of ship management organizations rooted in on-site, ship-oriented approach (April 2007)
- Training of seafarers on the "SPIRIT OF MOL," a Company-owned training ship from July 2007
- Execution of "MOL safety standard specifications" for newly built ships and existing ships (as needed)
- Holding a joint meeting of domestic and overseas concerned parties including ship management companies, and ship owners on seafarers' policies and training(as needed), etc.

As the result of the measures taken and the extra efforts made by the Group, and drawing on the lessons learned from previous serious accidents at sea, there were no serious maritime accidents in the fiscal year under review. The Company will remain uncompromising in taking all necessary measures to ensure future safe operation.

In business, the Company is aiming for continued growth and the expansion of revenues and income with prior reinforcement of fleet and strengthening of strategic business portfolios, worldwide business development on a global scale to meet growth and diversification of trade, especially expanding business in emerging markets such as India, Russia, Vietnam, Brazil, Black Sea states, and the Middle East, the reorganization of MOL Group companies to enhance the Group's total strength and competitiveness, and the promotion of creative cost saving programs.

Regarding the corporate governance system, the Company completed making documents for an internal control system for financial reports required by the Financial Instruments and Exchange Law, and evaluating the system. The Company is now at the stage of confirming that the internal control system is functioning effectively. Furthermore, the Company intends for the internal control system to not only meet the conditions of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Law, but also to cover a range of areas which extend beyond the requirements of the Law, such as environmental measures, compliance, etc. in efforts to further build confidence and trust between the Company and its Stakeholders.

Regarding the social action programs as a part of CSR (Corporate Social Responsibility), the Company has primarily focused on the "Transport of relief supplies" and "International cooperation/Maritime education." With respect to the "Transport of relief supplies," the Company transports emergency tents without charge in cooperation with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), using the Company's container service networks. Also in an attempt to encourage the children of Japan, a maritime country, to develop an interest in ships and the sea, the Company has held "MOL Kids' Cruise" since FY2005, in which elementary school children and their parents are invited to a cruise on the Nippon Maru. In March 2008, the 3rd MOL Kids' Cruise was held and won favorable review from participants. The Company will actively work on social action programs related to the Company's business areas.

Environmental protection measures the Company addresses in the aspect of hardware include the development of car carriers with a wind/water resistance reducing design and the diffusion of PBCF (Propeller Boss Cap Fin), an energy-saving propeller system. Other steps taken include the establishment and the implementation of sailing schedules in consideration of fuel consumption, and the selection of optimum navigation routes on the basis of climates and marine phenomena. As other energy-saving measures, a solar power generation system with a generation capacity of 200 KW was introduced in the "Ohi Container Terminal in Tokyo Port" that MOL operates in March 2007.

Furthermore, 63 major domestic group companies and 19 overseas companies are involved in the "MOL Group Environmental Target System," promoting environmental preservation activities in each group company. As of the end of FY2007, a total 14 group companies have acquired the "Green Management Certificate," under the environmental management certification system promoted by the Japanese Ministry of Land, Infrastructure, Transport and Tourism. The Company intends to continue considering and implementing measures to control and reduce environmental burdens associated with the Group's business activities in the future.
